IMPORTANT INFORMATION

If your vehicle registration is suspended, you may not operate the vehicle until your registration is reinstated. You can avoid this suspension if your currently registered vehicle will not be operated by either maintaining insurance or submitting an AFFIDAVIT OF NON-USE (ANU) to DMV prior to the suspension date. When you receive the registration renewal notice for a vehicle that you do not plan to use, you must also place your vehicle on Planned Non-Operation (PNO) status. For more information, or to file an ANU, see dmv.ca.gov, or call 1-800-777-0133.

Please note that "comprehensive" or "collision" insurance does not meet California's financial responsibility requirements. Only a liability policy can provide the required coverage for personal injury or property damage to others.

Acceptable evidence of liability insurance for private passenger vehicles includes:

1. A copy of the valid private passenger vehicle liability insurance identification card issued by your insurance company.
2. A copy of the Declaration (Coverage) Page for your private-use vehicle liability insurance policy or a copy of an insurance binder indicating coverage until the policy is issued (do not send a copy of the entire policy).
3. A copy of an evidence of coverage form issued by a charitable risk pool for your vehicle.
4. A copy of a California Insurance Proof Certificate, SR-22, for your vehicle (owner's policy or broad coverage policy only).
An operator's policy is not acceptable as evidence of insurance for vehicle registration.
5. A copy of a Mexico resident insurance policy (only valid for coverage of residents of Mexico with the registered owner address being in Mexico).

Acceptable evidence of liability insurance for a commercially insured vehicle includes:

1. A copy of Declaration Page of your policy (do not send a copy of the entire policy).
2. A Fleet Insurance Identification Card.
